Table of Contents

Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
<th>7</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I – The need for focused leadership training in turbulent times</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Different leaderships in time and space</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Leadership versus crises</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Developing leadership: what about training?</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Leadership needs in turbulent times</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. The kind of leadership needed</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. The varying effectiveness of training institutes</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. In conclusion</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Part I. Training for Leadership

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part I: Training for Leadership</th>
<th>29</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>II – Public sector leadership: theoretical antecedents and current debate</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giovanni Valotti</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Introduction</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Leadership theory throughout the ages: before and after the transformational paradigm</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Public sector leadership: definition(s)</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Public sector leadership: boundaries</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Public sector leadership: questions</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
III – Public sector leadership: a matter of style................................. 39
   Davide C. ORAZI and Alex TURRINI
   1. Introduction ........................................................................... 39
   2. Is public sector leadership different from leadership in the private sector? ................................................................. 41
   3. Public sector leadership styles................................................. 43
   4. The impact of leadership on public administration ..............  46
   5. Conclusions and further recommendations............................. 48

Part II. Turbulent Times for Leadership ........................................... 51

IV – Facing the Challenges of Public Policy Leadership in Developing Countries during Turbulent Times ............................. 53
   John-Mary KAUYA
   1. Introduction .......................................................................... 53
   2. Public Administration and Public Policy Leadership............. 54
   3. Public Policy-Making and Leadership in the Context of Globalization........................................................................ 55
   4. Entrepreneurial public administration and policy leadership for innovation and managed change...................... 60
   5. Integrative Public Policy Leadership ..................................... 61
   6. Administrative Public Policy Leadership ............................... 62

V – Challenges and Ways Forward For Public Administration
Globally ......................................................................................... 65
   Luis F. AGUILAR
   1. A look at the past................................................................. 65
   2. The challenges and ways forward........................................ 68

VI – Personal reflections on public administration and development management in Africa: 1961-2061 .................................................. 75
   Moses N. KIGGUNDU
   1. Introduction .......................................................................... 75
Table of Contents

2. The Failure of the African Public Service .............................. 78
3. Responding to the Crisis: Public Service Reform and Development .................................................................. 83
4. Challenges Ahead: 2011 to 2061 .......................................... 89
5. The Way forward ................................................................... 90

VII – Expected Impact of Egypt’s 25 January Revolution on Public Administration Education, Training & Practice ............................................. 97

Laila El Baradei

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 97
2. Impact on Public Administration and Public Policy Education: ............................................................................ 98
3. Impact on Public Policy and Administration Training: ........... 101
4. Impact on Government Priorities during the Transition Phase: .............................................................................. 101
5. Conclusion ........................................................................... 102

VIII – The Challenge of Fragile, Failed, and Post-Conflict States to Public Administration Education and Training ............................................. 103

Susan L. Woodward

IX – Leadership, Governance and Public Policy Competencies in the broader public sector ............................................................................. 107

Lebohang Motshae and Moses Sindane

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 107
2. Leadership and Governance: The perils of public policy implementation and consequent development .......... 108
3. Necessary public policy implementation competencies ....... 110
   3.1. Collaborative competencies ........................................ 111
   3.2. Problem-solving abilities ............................................ 112
   3.3. Diversity management skills ....................................... 112
   3.4. People relations skills.................................................. 112
3.5. Team work and cooperation ........................................ 112
3.6. Interactive competencies ............................................ 113
3.7. Communication abilities ............................................. 114
3.8. Stakeholder involvement and participation capabilities ........................................ 115
3.9. Networking abilities .................................................. 115
3.10. Technological skills ................................................... 115
3.11. Entrepreneurial competencies ..................................... 117
   3.11.1. Innovation and creativity ................................ 117
   3.11.2. Customer focus ............................................... 118
4. Leadership competencies ..................................................... 118
5. Conclusions .......................................................................... 119

X – The roles of traditional leadership in collaborative processes: Javanese Leadership Case ........................................ 121

  Ely Sutfianti

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 121
2. Theoretical framework ....................................................... 123
   2.1. Collaborative Process in Planning ............................... 123
   2.2. The kind of leadership needed in Collaborative Process ........................................ 126
3. Theoretical discussion ........................................................ 128
   3.1. The Gap between Prerequisite of Collaborative Process and Real Condition ................ 128
4. Reflections ............................................................................ 130
   4.1. Traditional Leadership for Collaborative Process ...... 130
   4.2. Traditional Leadership in Collaborative Process in Developing Countries with Feudalistic Culture Background; Javanese case in Indonesia ......................... 131
5. Conclusions .......................................................................... 133

XI – Leading through servant-hood: The African context .......... 135

  Michel Mudikolele Tshipyo

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 135
2. Leadership styles................................................................. 136
3. Universal characteristics of leadership ......................... 137
   3.1. Trait approach .......................................................... 137
   3.2. Behavior approach.................................................... 137
4. Characteristics of leaders.................................................. 138
5. Global leadership experience .......................................... 140
6. Leadership in the African context .................................. 142
7. The servant-leader’s model .............................................. 145
8. Conclusion ........................................................................ 147

XII – The Critical-Incident Analysis of Successful High-level Female Managers: Case Study of Taipei City Government .......... 149
Chi-Chun CHEN
1. Introduction ....................................................................... 149
2. Literature Review ............................................................. 150
3. Female and Leadership..................................................... 150
4. Barriers to women’s advancement in the public sector ...... 151
5. Glass ceiling ..................................................................... 151
6. Sticky floor ...................................................................... 152
7. Trapdoors ....................................................................... 152
8. Tokenism ........................................................................ 152
9. The key factors of successful promotion.......................... 152
10. Method ........................................................................... 153
11. Critical-Incident Technique............................................. 153
12. Data ................................................................................. 154
13. Results ............................................................................ 155
14. Cause ............................................................................ 155
15. Leadership ..................................................................... 156
   Barriers to career development ...................................... 157
16. Course .......................................................................................... 159
Results (Road to Success) ............................................................... 160
Family support ............................................................................... 161
Interpersonal relations ................................................................... 161
Advanced studies and on-job training ........................................... 161
Personal ability and attitude ......................................................... 162
17. Discussion .................................................................................... 162
18. Conclusion ................................................................................... 164

Part III. Effective Leadership .......................................................... 167

XIII – Enhancing Public Administration Effectiveness in Africa
by Strengthening Local Public Administration Leadership Capacity .. 169
John-Mary KAUZYA

1. Introduction ................................................................................... 169

2. Elements of a Guide to Local Public Administration and Leadership Capacity Development: A Snapshot ................. 170
   2.1. Sensitivity and responsiveness to contemporary and unfolding needs and challenges facing Africa’s leadership and people, especially at local community level .................................................................. 171
   2.2. Respect for and harnessing the potential of diversity .. 172
   2.3. Critical self-examination ............................................. 172
   2.4. Applied research and scholarship ............................... 172
   2.5. Professionalism, ethics, integrity, transparency, accountability, and excellence ......................................... 173
   2.6. Balancing Self-reliance with Global awareness,
       Collaboration, Partnerships and Networking ............... 173
   2.7. Participation and engagement of the communities concerned ..................................................................... 174
   2.8. Exploiting the Potential of Information and Communications Technologies (ICTs) .................. 174

3. Background and Introduction: Redefining and redesigning the finality of Public Administration at local government level .......................................................................................... 174
Table of Contents

3.1. Objectives of decentralization and what they imply for developing public administration leadership capacities at local level .................................................. 175
   3.1.1. Uganda ........................................................................ 175
   3.1.2. South Africa ............................................................. 176
   3.1.3. Rwanda ........................................................................ 176
   3.1.4. Kenya: (according to the New Constitution 2010) ................................................................. 177

3.2. Linking Local Governments with MDGs .................... 178
   3.2.1. Networked public administration leadership at local level ...................................................... 180
   3.2.2. What would be the Requisite Public Administration and Leadership conceptual framework and Capacity for Local Governance? .................................................. 181
   3.2.3. Linkage between decentralized governance and public administration leadership capacity development .................................................. 186
   3.2.4. Challenges facing local level public administration leadership in Africa ................... 187
   3.2.5. The Challenge of How to Eradicate Poverty among Communities ....................................... 189

3.3. The challenge of how to lead and perform effectively in the context of globalization and in a world of increasing interdependency ............ 190
   3.3.1. The challenge of how to lead large-scale transformation .................................................. 192

3.4. The challenge of developing current & future public administration leaders at local level ............................. 194
   3.4.1. How to ensure public administration leadership professionalism, integrity, ethical conduct, transparency and accountability ....... 196
   3.4.2. How to prevent/manage conflict and violence .. 197
   3.4.3. How to Create and sustain legitimacy of public administration institutions and engineer public trust ............................................. 197
   3.4.4. How to lead in the context of contradictions and paradox ..................................................... 198
4. Conclusions ............................................................................................................. 198

XIV – Stakeholder-based Monitoring of Leadership Training in Public Administration .............................................. 201

_Lichia Yiu and Raymond Saner_

1. Abstract ..................................................................................................................... 201

2. Challenges in Human Capital Formation through Training within Governments ........................................ 202

3. Research Evidence ................................................................................................ 203

4. Demands for Greater Accountability and Institutionalizing New Ways of Governance .......................... 206

5. Innovation Has not Sufficiently addressed deeper layers of System Deficiency & Resistance ................. 207

7. Conventional Quality Assurance Measures ......................................................................................... 209

8. Operationalizing Training-to-Performance Linkages ............................................................................ 210

9. Stakeholder Engagement and Participation .......................................................................................... 212

10. A Monitoring System for Institutionalization of Stakeholder Approach ............................................. 215

12. Existing Quality Assurance Instrument for Training ........................................................................... 218

13. Conclusions .................................................................................................................. 218

XV – The promotion of innovation by Management Development Institutes: Lessons from Uganda and Tanzania .................................................. 221

_Elizabeth Kawuma Lwanga, Mary Basaasa Muhenda and Agatha Wanderage_

1. Introduction .................................................................................................................. 221

2. The Challenge ............................................................................................................. 223
3. Review of Related Literature ................................................. 223
4. Methodology .......................................................................... 225
   4.1. Factor Analysis of Variables ........................................... 225
   4.2. Reliability Analysis ...................................................... 225
5. Results ................................................................................ 227
   5.1. Respondents’ views on knowledge sharing .................... 228
   5.2. Respondents’ responses on knowledge searching .......... 228
6. Recommendations .............................................................. 229

XVI – The National Certified Public Manager (CPM) Program:
A Model Training Program for Public and Non-profit Leaders and Managers Worldwide ......................................................... 233
Howard R. Balanoff, Emily K. Balanoff and Marilyn K. Balanoff

1. Introduction ........................................................................ 233
2. The national certified Public Manager (CPM) Program ..... 234
3. The national Certified Public Manager Consortium ....... 234
4. The Texas Certified Public Manager (CPM) Program ....... 235
   4.1. Introduction and History ............................................ 235
   4.2. Course Organization ................................................... 235
5. CPM Open and Closed Enrolment Cycles ....................... 236
6. CPM Curriculum ............................................................... 237
7. Individual Management Development Plan (IMDP) ......... 237
8. Professional Assignments & Take-Home Exams ............... 237
9. Graduation from the Texas CPM Program ....................... 238
10. Admission to the CPM Program ......................................... 238
11. Cooperative Agreements with other Texas State Universities.. 239
12. CPM Program Faculty .......................................................... 240
13. The CPM Program Cycle Coordinator (For Each Location). 240
14. Registration, Fees, Reimbursements and Payment Options... 241
15. Academic Credit ............................................................... 241
16. International Certified Public Manager (CPM) Program with the Swedish National Defense College (SNDC) ............ 242

17. The American Academy of Certified Public Managers (AACPM) ................................................................. 243

18. CPM Program Linkages to National and State Associations 243

19. Organizations Linked with Certified Public Manager Programs .............................................................................. 244

19.1. The American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) ........................................................................ 244

19.2. The International City/County Management Association (ICMA) ............................................................... 244

19.3. The Texas Municipal League (TML) & Texas City Management Association (TCMA) ................................. 244

19.4. The Texas Society of Certified Public Managers .......... 245

19.5. Additional Features of the Texas CPM Program .......... 245

20. Potential for the International Certification of Public Managers ............................................................................. 246

Soifiane Sahraoui and Raed Ben Shams

1. Abstract ................................................................................. 247

2. Case Background .................................................................. 247

3. Business Model ..................................................................... 248

4. Organizational Structure ...................................................... 249

5. Structural Problems ................................................................ 250

6. Impetus for Design ................................................................ 252

7. Lack of Clear Design Governance as Transitional Failure 1 ... 252

8. Misalignment between the Vertical Organization and the Horizontal Organization as Transitional Failure 2 ... 254

9. Recruitment of a Director of Learning & Development as Transitional Failure 3 ....................................................... 255

10. Recruitment of an HR Director as Transitional Failure 4 ..... 256
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>The Final Configuration</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>Change Implementation</td>
<td>259</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>Concluding Remarks</td>
<td>260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>XVIII</td>
<td>On Quality Generation Mechanism for China’s Leadership Training</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Mingfa DONG</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Basic rules of quality generation</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Analysis on Leadership Training Process</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1</td>
<td>Components of leadership training system</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Analysis of features of leadership training system</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.1</td>
<td>Active adaptability</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.2</td>
<td>Function integrity</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3</td>
<td>Interactivity of all components</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4</td>
<td>Feedback and adjustability</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Quality generation mechanism of leadership training</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1</td>
<td>Analysis of the generation of leadership training quality</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Generation traits of leadership training quality</td>
<td>267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.1</td>
<td>The dual-circulating system of the process of leadership training generation</td>
<td>267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2</td>
<td>The subjectivity of generation factors in leadership training quality generation</td>
<td>267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3</td>
<td>The result of generation of leadership training quality being difficult to examine</td>
<td>267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>Guarantee measures of the leadership training quality</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.1</td>
<td>Improve the macro-management level of the leadership training</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.2</td>
<td>Establish the scientific leadership training concept</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.3</td>
<td>Construct the external quality guarantee system of leadership training</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.4</td>
<td>Improve the operational capability of the training institution</td>
<td>269</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.5</td>
<td>Strengthen the competence of trainers</td>
<td>269</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
6.6. Improve the ability of training curriculum development........................................... 269
6.7. Curriculum development should be need-oriented...... 269
6.8. Curriculum development should be under the direction of adult course development theory and rule ................................................................. 269
6.9. Give full play to the trainees’ initiative learning ........ 270
6.10. Create a public organizational culture of learning ..... 270
6.11. Develop effective learning incentives........................... 270
6.12. Design training activities that conform to the characteristics of the adult learning .......... 270

XIX – Courses for Civil Servants: who attend and what are the effects?................................................................. 273

Rick T. Borst, Christiaan J. Lako and Michiel S. de Vries

1. Introduction ........................................................................ 273
2. Theory .................................................................................. 275
  2.1. Work-related courses: who follow them?................. 275
      Organizational characteristics ................................ 275
      Individual characteristics ........................................ 276
      Function-related characteristics.......................... 277
  2.2. What are the expected effects?................................. 278
      Job satisfaction ........................................................... 278
      Affinity with the organization .................................... 279
      Public Service Motivation ........................................... 279
3. The data material ................................................................. 281
4. Results .................................................................................. 284
  4.1. The course participants............................................................ 285
  4.2. The effects of the courses.............................................. 286
      Job satisfaction ........................................................... 286
      Affinity with the organization .................................... 288
      Public Service Motivation ........................................... 289
5. Discussion ............................................................................ 290
XX – Training for public managers and civil servants: features and perspectives ............................................................ 293
Gianfranco D’ALESSIO

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 293
2. Training in the public sector ................................................. 293
3. What effects has this system of recruitment produced up to now? ................................................................. 295
4. Innovations........................................................................... 298
5. Concluding ........................................................................... 300

XXI – An Ethics Course is not enough ................................................ 301
Arthur RINGELING

1. Introduction .......................................................................... 301
2. History ................................................................................. 301
3. Embedded in political philosophy......................................... 303
4. Two variations in Anglo-Saxon P.A ..................................... 304
5. A distinction with many meanings ....................................... 306
6. Political Science, part 2......................................................... 306
7. Entanglement between politics and the political ................. 308
8. New Public Management ..................................................... 309
9. Basic insights of NPM .......................................................... 310
10. Values of NPM ..................................................................... 311
11. The Democratic Rechtsstaat ................................................ 312
12. Diversity ............................................................................... 313
13. Tensions between values ....................................................... 314
14. Bringing values back in......................................................... 315
15. A state is a state is a state..................................................... 316
Conclusion ........................................................................................................................................ 319

XXII – What did we learn? ......................................................................................................... 321

Luis F. Aguil̆ar

1. Introduction .......................................................................................................................... 321
2. The search for a multidimensional balance in knowledge and practice of Public Administration .......................................................... 322
3. Public values and hierarchy ............................................................................................... 323
4. Leadership .......................................................................................................................... 324

References .................................................................................................................................. 327

About the authors ....................................................................................................................... 361

Table of Contents ...................................................................................................................... 371